

DAVES VISION 25-10-04

This AM was engulfed and that is the best word in again what I call simulations only this one was of a negative nature and I may add in a very big way.

I cut to pieces all that I have learned in some 73 years of my life. Everything to do with Spiritual especially Oahspe and my stupidity of ever believing in anything so ridiculous. This included looking in a sense down on the earth and all on it. The black so intense that it was completely engulfed. Then backing off very far into space and engulfing the black regions of outer space. I wasn't afraid as I was awed. Then came back to earth above and saw a glow of light behind the earth. Then small minute dots of light on the earth's surface. It started with what appeared to be one and then grew until the earth was completely covered with these small lights or dots until the earth was completely engulfed or covered in light, BECAUSE these dots were so close together, so united. The only black left was the area outside of the earth's circumference and it was shaded. There was more only more personal. Then I was given this explanation.

For all the negative and dark thoughts that were given to me and the horrible feelings for just about everything and the FUTILITY that accompanies such thoughts and feelings AND the emotion of fighting physically all that was trying to do harm regardless of who it may be. Especially against my own loved ones. Gradually was reassured of so many things positive in the past, present and future.

I will remember that feeling for a very long time and do all within me to fight not to destroy but to believe in someone or something that can completely destroy this blackness, this ignorance, this futility, this whatever. Oh yes, why me, Why am I so fortunate. Can certainly thank HIM and the Loo'is and Oahspe, (the book, bible, door and formula. Past, present and the FUTURE) Then was given reasons why this comparison was and is so important. If we all never had darkness we would all never really realize the immense greatness of what being and growing is all about. BUT perhaps the greatest is where it all comes from and who it is as we all understand at this time in our new beginning. AND at this time we are far enough advanced within each of us and our own little light that we do make a difference That we are the ones that will change the near complete darkness about us to billions of dots of light instead of billions of dots of our own darkness The proof is all within each of us to do what we can not for each of us move mountains but perhaps a mole hill or two.

Yes it was quite a morning.

Have a good day my friend

Dave
